2001 Assembly Bill 644 directs the Department of Natural Resources to make a grant of $250,000 from the forestry account of the Conservation Fund to the Paper International Hall of Fame to reconstruct the Atlas Mill in Appleton as a center, to be known as the World Paper Center, containing a facility for educating children regarding the relationship between forestry and education.

Assembly Substitute Amendment 1 (ASA 1) is identical to the bill except that the funding for the grant is from the Stewardship Program.

On January 24, 2002, the Assembly Committee on Rural Affairs and Forestry voted to recommend adoption of ASA 1 by a vote of Ayes, 5; and Noes, 3; it voted to recommend passage of the bill, as amended, by the same vote.
